In this copy signature Q has only the ordinary quantity of leaves, namely four. The publisher finding he had omitted somewhat, cancelled the two latter (viz. Q.3 & Q 4) reprinted them in a different manner, and added a fifth leaf, in order to get in the omitted lines. This is the only difference between the two copies. See the other copy with the additional leaf in vol. V.

In a copy of this play which belonged to Samuel Tyson Esqre and was sold with his Collection in Dec. 1801, is written in the title page, in the handwriting of Shakespeare's time,
